BEEYOND VAULT

How to Use Beeyond Vault

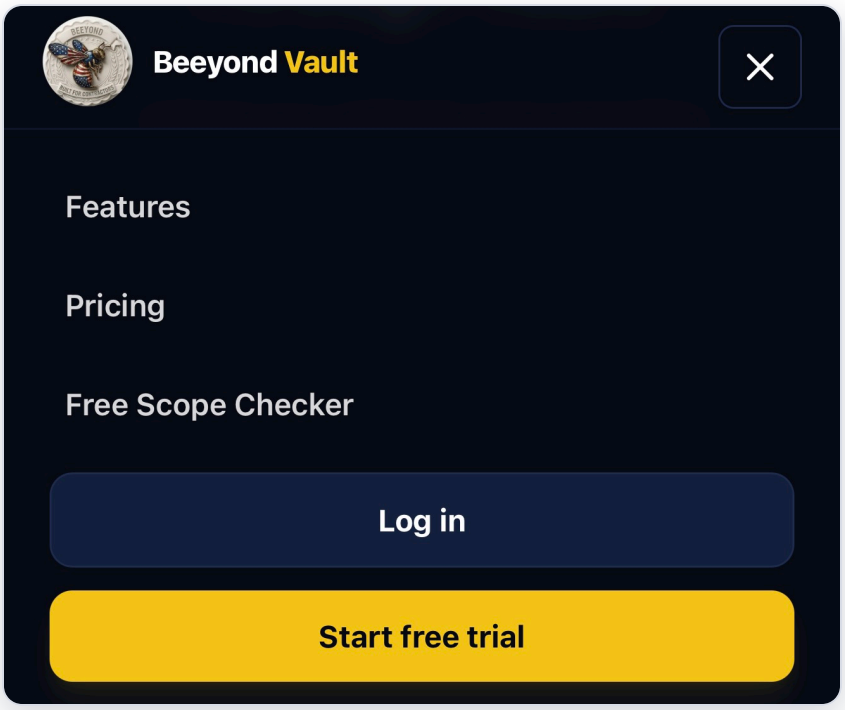

A simple, step-by-step guide. No computer experience needed — just follow along one step at a time.

A Beeyond Estimators Company

What Beeyond Vault Does

In plain terms: you upload your estimate, and Beeyond Vault checks it against a library of items that estimators commonly forget — things like drip edge, code-required items, or quantities that don't match the damage described. It shows you what it found, and you decide what to use. It never adds anything on its own, and it never tells a carrier anything is "owed" — it just helps you build a stronger, better-documented estimate.

> Before you start, have ready: your estimate as a PDF (the file your software like Xactimate exports), and a phone or computer with internet access.

What's In This Guide

- Logging in and creating your account
- Starting a new review

- Uploading your estimate and photos
- Using the jobsite photo log (camera feature)
- Running a Vault Review and reading what it finds
- Adding findings to your claim
- Building and exporting a letter to send the carrier
- Your account and billing
- A one-page quick reference you can keep handy

1. Logging In

Go to beeyondvault.com on your phone or computer's web browser.

1

If this is your first time

Click Create an account. Enter your email and choose a password (at least 6 characters). Click Create account — you're in right away, no email link to click.

2

If you already have an account

Enter your email and password, then click Log in.

3

Forgot your password?

Click Forgot password? under the password box. We'll email you a link to set a new one.

> Your first review is free. You pick a plan and start your trial from the Pricing page, but you are not charged anything until you actually run your first review.

2. Your Dashboard

Once you log in, you land on your Dashboard — your home base. Here's what you'll see:

- A search bar — look up anything in the Vault's library, like "drip edge" or a building code number.
- A gold "+ New Review" button (top right) — click this to start reviewing a new estimate.
- Recent reviews — a list of the claims/jobs you've already started, so you can jump back in.

> If you're still on your free trial, you'll see a gold banner at the top reminding you your first review is free — nothing is charged until you run it.

Your Dashboard — the search bar, the "+ New Review" button, and your recent reviews.

3. Starting a New Review

1

Click "+ New Review"

Found at the top right of your Dashboard.

2

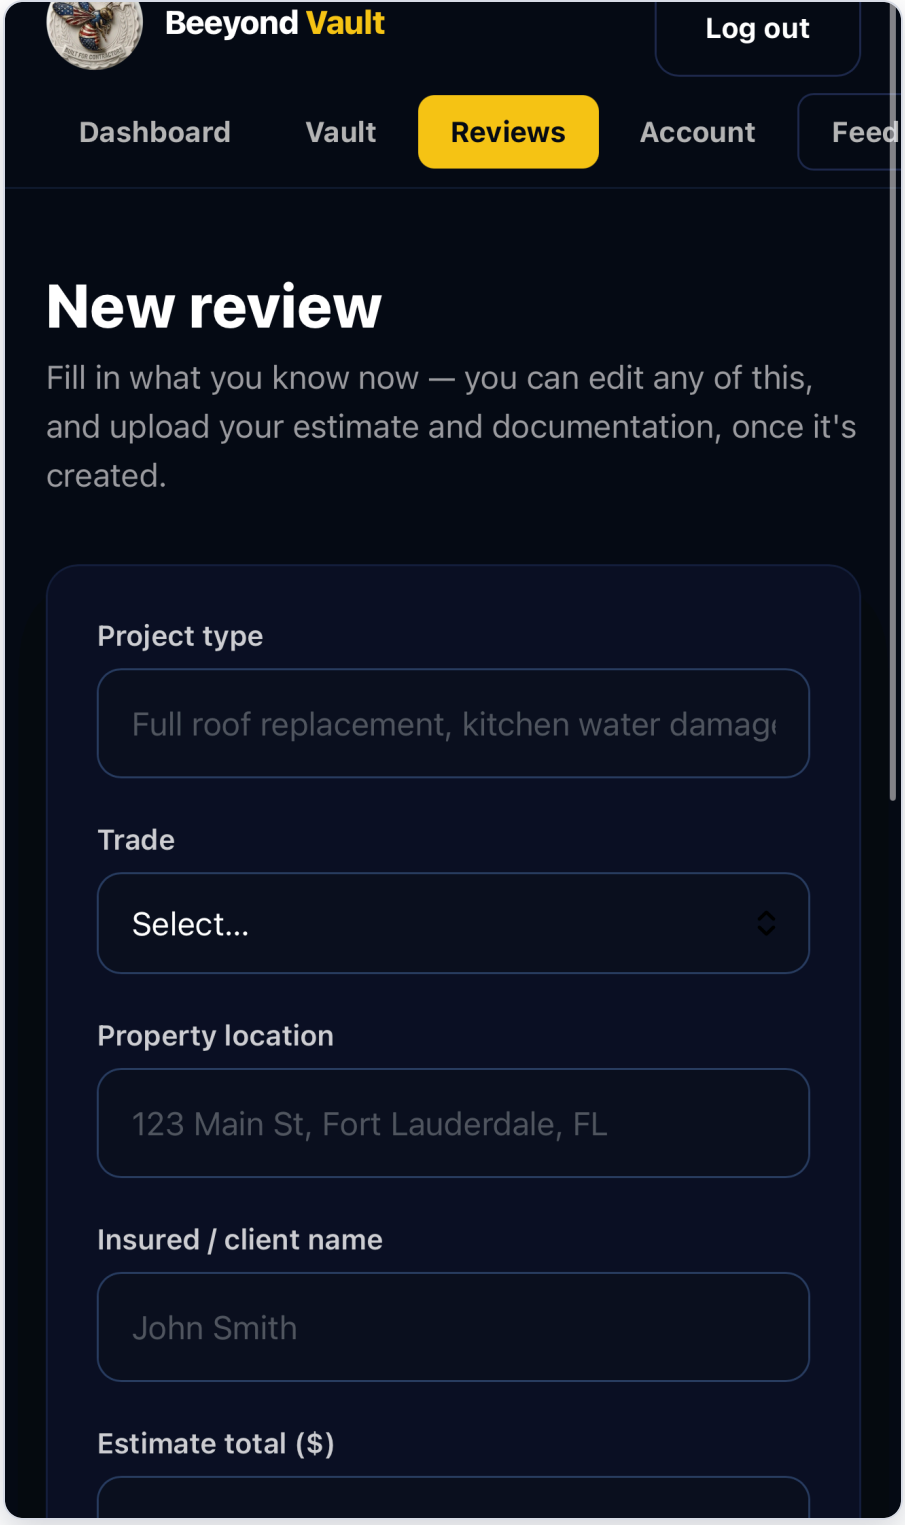

Fill in what you know

Project type, trade, property address, client name, estimate total, date of loss, claim number, carrier, adjuster — fill in whatever you have. Nothing here is set in stone; you can edit any of it later.

3

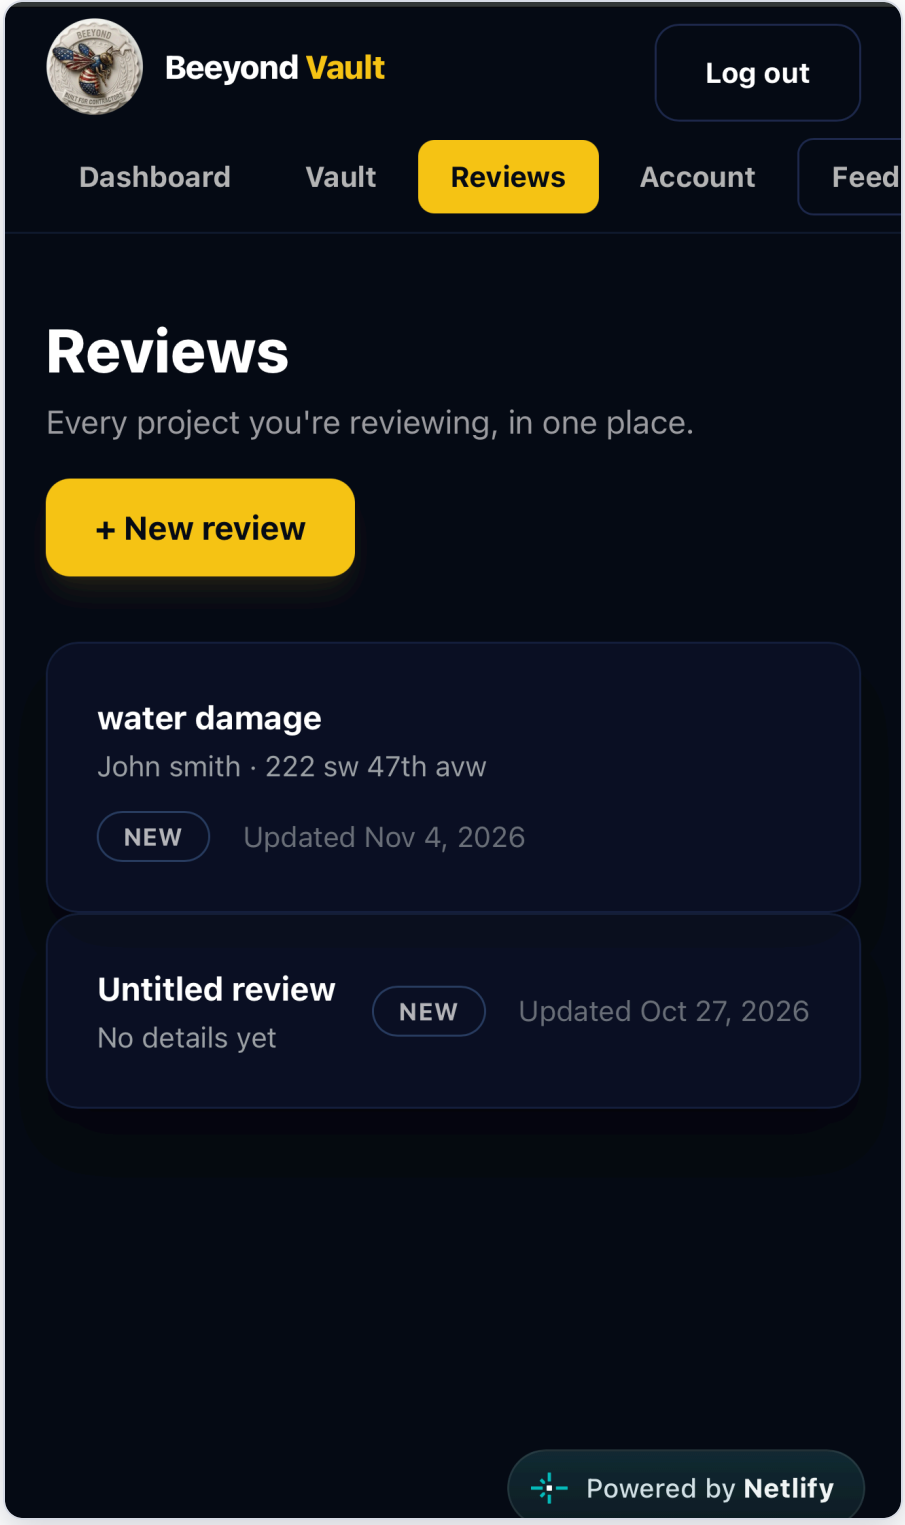

Click "Create review"

This opens the review page for this job, where you'll upload documents and run the review.

The New Review form — fill in what you know, skip the rest.

> All your reviews also live under the Reviews tab at the top of the page, so you can get back to any of them later.

The Reviews tab — every job you're reviewing, in one place.

4. Uploading Your Estimate & Documents

On the review page, scroll to the Documents section. There are two boxes.

1 📄 Estimate box

Click Upload estimate and choose your estimate PDF (the file your estimating software exports). This is required before you can run a review.

2 📎 Documentation box

Click Upload documentation to add anything else from your files — photos, scope notes, measurements, invoices. You can select more than one file at a time.

> Accepted file types: PDF, JPG, PNG, WEBP, or HEIC. Each file can be up to 15 MB. The more documentation you add, the better a review Vault can give you.

5. Taking Jobsite Photos (Photo Log)

This is the camera feature — it's different from a regular upload because it automatically stamps each photo with when and where it was taken, which helps prove you were actually on site.

1. 📷 Tap "Take photo (adds to photo log)"

   This button is in the Documentation box, right below "Upload documentation."

2. Allow camera & location access

   Your phone or browser may ask permission the first time. Say yes to both so the time and location get attached automatically.

3. Take the picture

   It uploads automatically and appears in the Photo Log section further down the page, newest photo first, with the time it was taken and a link to view the location on a map.

> Important: this time-and-location stamping only happens when you use the "Take photo" button. Picking an existing photo from your camera roll through "Upload documentation" does not tag it — that's on purpose, since a photo you didn't just take shouldn't claim a location it wasn't actually taken at.

6. Running a Vault Review

1. Make sure your estimate is uploaded

   The review button won't work until you've added your estimate PDF (Step 4).

2. Click "Run Vault Review"

   Found in the Vault Review section of the page.

3. Wait a minute or two

   You'll see "Comparing your estimate against the Vault..." Don't close the page — let it finish on its own.

> Your very first review on Beeyond Vault is free, no matter which plan you choose.

7. Reading What Vault Found

After the review finishes, you'll see a card for each item Vault flagged. Every card shows:

- A short label, like "Potentially Missing"
- Why Vault flagged it — a plain-language explanation
- A gold box titled "Letter language, drafted by Vault" — ready-to-use sentences you could put straight into a letter to the carrier
- The typical price range, and a Florida code reference if one applies

1 Read the finding carefully

Decide for yourself whether it truly applies to this job.

2 Choose one of three buttons

Add to Review adds it to your claim and carries the drafted letter language with it. Dismiss skips it. Needs more info sets it aside to revisit.

> Vault never decides anything for you and never says money is "owed." Every finding is a suggestion to review — the decision is always yours.

8. Building Your Claim

Everything you click "Add to Review" on lands in the Attached items list at the bottom of the review page, with a running total shown in gold.

- Click + Add from Vault to search and add items directly from the full Vault library, not just what the review flagged.
- You can adjust the quantity, price, or note on any item, and attach photos to a specific item as evidence.

The Vault tab — search or filter the full library by category.

9. Generating a Letter

Once you have items attached, it's time to build the letter you'll send the carrier.

1. Click "Generate letter"

   Next to your running total at the bottom of the review page.

2. Pick a letter type

   Initial scope clarification (first letter), Follow-up after no response, or Response to partial approval.

3. Check your info

   Most fields are already filled in from your account and this claim — just confirm they're correct.

4. Export

   This downloads a finished PDF letter, ready to send to the carrier.

> Want a plain summary for your own records instead? Click "Export Review Summary" right next to "Generate letter" — it's a PDF of everything Vault found and what you decided on each one.

10. Your Account

Click your account in the menu to see your plan, manage billing, or update your info.

- See which plan you're on — Solo or Crew — and your billing status.
- Update your company name, contact info, and phone number (this is what shows up on your letters).
- If you ever need to close your account entirely, there's a "Delete account" option at the bottom — it asks you to type DELETE to confirm, since this cannot be undone.
